

Diabetics receives free coaching

Nodensa Sweden makes the software application DiabetesCoach™ a freeware and available for everyone with pre-diabetes and diabetes.

Starting September 8th, everyone in Sweden can receive a free license to the software DiabetesCoach™. The software is complimentary by Roche Diagnostics and Accu-Chek Club and is available at their website and at vardshoppen.se

DiabetesCoach™ is a web based toolbox that assists users with their long term lifestyle changes and balance of blood sugar. Their results and values can easily be shared with care takers and also used by educators and dietitians.

- Healthy nutritional and activity habits are the only part of diabetes than can be affected by the patient themselves. The software allows the user to meet with dietitians, physical therapists, personal trainers and diabetes experts on daily basis. As a supplier of health beneficial software technology, we want to give our contribution to enhance the quality of life for people with one of the largest deceases, by offering them daily digital coaching. That's why we make DiabetesCoach™ free fore every one, says Daniel Arenholm, General Manager for Nodensa.
